Disclosure of Relevant Financial Relationships with Commercial Interests

The Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) requires that everyone who is in a position to control the content of an education activity disclose relevant financial relationships with commercial interests. A "relevant financial relationship" is defined as any financial relationship within the past 12 months. A commercial interest is defined as any entity producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients.

Program Name: Case Conference
Program Number: 12345
Reporting Period: January 1 – December 31, 2016

The topics planned for the CME activity listed above do not relate to products or services (e.g., drugs or medical devices consumed by, or used on, patients) of an ACCME-defined commercial interest. Therefore, the planners and speakers have no relevant financial relationships to disclose.

I attest that this information was presented to participants on 1.3.17 (date).
